

A close-up photograph of dark, wet pebbles. The pebbles are small, rounded, and have a glossy sheen from water. They are scattered across the bottom half of the frame. The background is a soft, out-of-focus bokeh of light blue and white circles, suggesting a shallow depth of field. Overlaid on the image is the word "PHILEMON" in large, white, sans-serif capital letters. The letters are positioned in the upper half of the frame, with the bottom edges of the letters resting on the pebbles. The overall composition is clean and modern.

So if you consider me your partner, receive him as you would receive me.

Philemon 17

If he has wronged you at all, or owes you anything, charge that to my account. I, Paul, write this with my own hand: I will repay it—to say nothing of your owing me even your own self.

Philemon 18-19

Yes, brother, I want some benefit from you in the Lord. Refresh my heart in Christ.

Philemon 20

Confident of your obedience, I write to you, knowing that you will do even more than I say.

Philemon 21

At the same time, prepare a guest room for me, for I am hoping that through your prayers I will be graciously given to you.

Philemon 22

Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, sends greetings to you, and so do Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke, my fellow workers. The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

Philemon 23-25
